#ChapterActivity

A small coffee shop in the capital city became the venue for the PUAN Open Mic night, where ideas, talent, and tales joined and spun intricately together.

The PUAN Open mic provided an opportunity for newcomers to be heard, for seasoned musicians to try out new material, and for anyone with an act to connect with an audience.

Our alumnus, Shaharyar Ahsan with the aim of fostering a positive artistic space hosted the Open Mic and set the tone for the night.

The PUAN Open Mic featured singing, acoustic sets, poetry readings and prose.

Here is the glimpse of the event

United Nations Educational Scientific and Cultural Organization [UNESCO] and Mahatma Gandhi Institute of Education for Peace and Sustainable Development [UNESCO MGIEP] in collaboration with CYAAD and HIVE, organized a three days YESPeace Festival with the launch of International Youth Campaign on Kindness for the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs).
Over 135 young and active Leaders from all regions of Pakistan were selected. The group had a balanced gender ratio and even included activist Transgender youth. The launch was followed by a 2-day-long capacity building workshop on peace and sustainable development including sessions on multiculturalism, identity, civic imagination, conflict resolution, policy making though TAGe and many more..
YESPeace Network has gown into 17+ youth organizations in over 10 countries.
The purpose of this Campaign is to mobilise the world's youth to achieve the 17 SDGs through transformative acts of Kindness. The overall goals of the campaign are to: Create a positive culture of kindness where a person's selfless act matters and to show how it can make a difference to the SDGs, and to provide a comprehensive, independent, fun and engaging pathway for youth to demonstrate how an act of kindness is a non-trivial task and that being kind is cool.
