25th April 2023

Dear Aunil Muntazir,

We are pleased to inform you have been awarded a scholarship to follow the Erasmus Mundus Joint Master Degree in Resilience in Educational Contexts at the University of Malta, University of Crete, University of Lisbon and the Stefan cel Mare University, Suceava, starting on 2nd October 2023. This is a two-year, full-time programme with different mobilities at the four respective universities. We understand that you have not been awarded an EMJM scholarship before.

Your scholarship includes the registration fees at the respective universities and a mobility grant covering return ticket, costs of stay and study and insurance costs for the study period at the University of Malta, University of Crete, University of Lisbon and Stefan cel Mare University Suceava. You will receive a monthly subsistence allowance (1400 euros per month) during the four mobility periods.

In order to take part in the study programme and according to the rules of the Erasmus Mundus Action FLOURISH, you shall study at the University of Malta (first semester), University of Crete (second semester), University of Lisbon or Stefan Cel Mare University, Suceava (third semester), and any of these four universities in the fourth semester, during the period October 2nd, 2023 to July 31st 2025. The fourth semester (February-July 2025) may held onsite, offsite or in hybrid mode.

The four respective universities shall make every reasonable effort to assist you in finding suitable accommodation. The International Office at the University of Malta will also be providing guidance and support in obtaining the visa. More information may be found at:
